

2005-06 SEASON REGAP

During Pat Santoro's first two years in College Park, the progress the wrestling program was hard to see by looking just at the numbers of wins and losses. However, in the 2005-06 season, the Terps began to make strides in the win column posting the most victories since 2002 (10) and winning a share of the ACC regular season title for the first time since the 1973-74 season despite injuries to several key starters. Maryland again tested itself against the best competition in the country in duals and tournaments, and showed that the Terps have the talent to compete at the highest level.

In the first action of the year, the Terps lost ACC champion and team captain Charlie Pinto to injury. In that void, sophomore Andrew Schlawfer had a break-out season much like the one Pinto had a season before. Schlawfer progressed through the season, and peaked at the right time winning the ACC title at 149 pounds and advancing to the NCAA Tournament. Schlawfer was awarded the team's Most Valuable Wrestler following the season.

The Terps started the season slowly, opening with a modest 1-7 record in duals. During that time, though did get solid performances at the Body Bar Classic and Mat Town Invitational. Schlawfer and redshirt freshman Josh Haines (184) placed at the Body Bar, while nine Terps placed at Mat Town. Schlawfer again led the way for the Terps by taking third, and freshmen Brendan Byrne (133) and Bryan Reiss (285) each managed fourth place finishes for Maryland.

Heading Santoro's training philosophy of peaking at the end of the year, the Terps closed the season winning seven of its final 10 dual contests, despite losses of starters at 174, 184 and heavyweight. In that stretch, Maryland rattled off five straight duals, including wins over ACC opponents Duke, North Carolina, NC State and Virginia Tech. Also during that span, freshman Alex Krom (141), who came out of his redshirt season to take the place of the injured Pinto, was named the ACC's Wrestler of the Week.

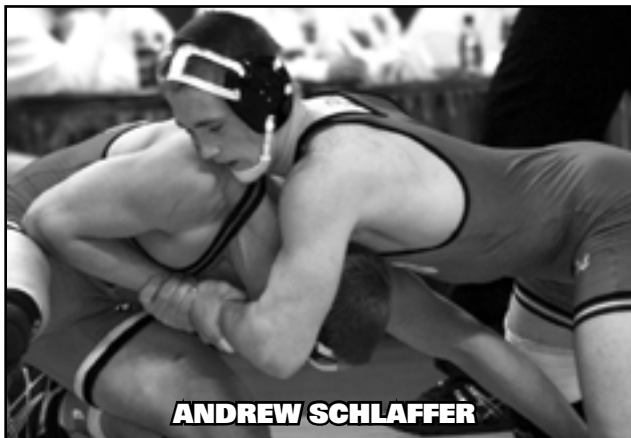

The Terps headed into the final week of the regular season with a showdown against Virginia for the regular season title. Despite a valiant rally, Maryland was unable to hold off the Cavaliers and settled for a share of the ACC crown.

The Terps had a strong showing at the ACC Tournament, sending Schlawfer, Byrne and Adam James to the finals. Schlawfer managed the victory, while the other two fell just short in their bid for the title. Maryland finished fourth with 48 points.

At the NCAA Tournament, Schlawfer gave second-seeded Tyler Eustice of Iowa all he could handle in a 5-3 loss. He won in the consolation bracket before being eliminated by Penn's Matt Dragon.

Several Terps had strong seasons in open competition. Jason Kiessling (157) won 20 matches in open action, including a championship at the Ediboro Open. Freshman standout Hudson Taylor (197) won two open titles – the West Virginia Open and the Kent State Open – as part of his 15 victories on the year.

Once again, the Terps excelled off the mat as well as on it. For the second straight season, the Terps were among the recipients of the Atlantic Coast Conference sportsmanship awards for the winter season. In addition to that, Adam DeCosmo, James Knox and Andrew Schlawfer were recognized for their academic accomplishments by being named to the inaugural 2006 All-ACC Academic Wrestling Team.
