SERIES VS. HARVARD: Maryland leads, 1-0

Last Meeting: W, 81-61, 11/29/97

In the only meeting between the teams, Maryland defeated Harvard by a 20-point margin on the first day of the ECAC Holiday Festival in Worcester, Mass. The Terps led 39-31 at the break, before gradually increasing its lead with several mini-runs, including a 7-0 spurt early in the second half and a sealed it with an 11-2 run in the final five minutes of the game. Sonia Chase led the team with 25 points, with Sonia Chase recording a double-double with 21 points and 12 rebounds. Harvard's Allison Feaster led the Crimson with 28 points and 13 points.

SERIES VS. MISSISSIPPI: Maryland leads, 1-0

Last Meeting: W, 110-79, 11/25/06

The teams played for the first time ever earlier this season, meeting in the championship game of the Junkanoo Jam in the Bahamas. The Terps ran out to a 56-35 lead at halftime to put the game away early. The 110 points set a single-game tournament record and was the most scored on the road by Maryland since 1988.

Senior Shay Doron had 23 points on 9-for-11 shooting, also grabbing six rebounds, dishing four assists and making four steals, en route to tournament MVP honors. The Terps also had a solid defense plan in the game, limiting Mississippi's Armintie Price to just nine points and the team to just 37.2 percent shooting.

SERIES VS. TCU: Maryland leads, 1-0

Last Meeting: W, 82-64, 11/17/06

TCU opened the 2006-07 season against the Terrapins in mid-November at the BTI Classic at Comcast Center. Laura Harper scored a career-high 27 points to lead the Terps to the victory. Shay Doron had 22 points. The Lady Frogs were limited to just 28 points in the first half, while Maryland scored 51 to cruise to the victory. TCU trailed by as many as 36 in the game.

ABOUT HARVARD: Harvard is the only one of the three teams in Hartford from the Dayton Regional to earn its respective conference's automatic bid. The Crimson captured the Ivy League's regular-season title posting a 13-1 record, winning their last 12 games of the season. Two of Harvard's top three scorers are underclassmen. Sophomore Emily Tay leads the pack with 12.8 points per game, while also leading the league in assists per game and steals per game. Classmate Niki Finelli is second on the team in rebounding and third in scoring. Six of Harvard's players are underclassmen, five are sophomores. It has just two seniors on the squad. Only one of those seniors is in the starting lineup.

HARVARD MAKES NCAA TOURNEY HISTORY: Harvard is the only 16 seed in men's or women's NCAA Tournament history to defeat a No. 1 seed. The Crimson defeated Stanford in 1998, 71-67.

IVY LEAGUE IN THE NCAA

TOURNAMENT: The Crimson are the only Ivy League team in the NCAA Tournament, capturing the league's automatic bid when it won the conference crown with a regular-season record of 13-1.

TERPS VS. THE IVY LEAGUE: Maryland has never lost to an Ivy League team, going 4-0 all-time. The Terps have defeated Brown (2000) and Harvard (1997) once, while taking two games from Penn, the last meeting coming in the Coors Classic in 2004.

HARVARD VS. THE FIELD OF 64: The Crimson are 0-5 against NCAA Tournament teams, who come from five different conferences. Harvard opened the season with losses to East Carolina and Holy Cross in the TD BankNorth Classic. It also suffered non-conference losses to BYU, California and Marist. The Terps also defeated Marist in the championship game of the Terrapin Classic.

ABOUT MISSISSIPPI: The Rebels receive their highest seed in the NCAA Tournament under fourth-year head coach Carol Ross and are back in the postseason event after missing out last year. Ole Miss, who received an at-large bid into the tournament, is 21-10 overall, its most wins in a season since the 2001 campaign. Mississippi is led by first team All-SEC performer Armintie Price. She is averaging nearly a double-double, leading the team both with 18.1 ppg and 9.1 rpg. She is also the team's assist leader, averaging 4.7 apg. Fellow senior Ashley Awkward is second on the squad with 12.2 ppg.

SEC IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT: The SEC received five overall bids into the NCAA Tournament, with Vanderbilt capturing the conference's automatic bid after winning the conference tournament. Also in the Dayton Regional is the SEC's Tennessee, who garnered a No. 1 seed. The seventh-seeded Rebels are the lowest seeded team from the SEC.

TERPS VS. THE SEC: Maryland has not had much luck over the years against SEC teams, trailing by a combined 24-10. The Terps have faced 11 teams from the conference all-time, including 14 meetings against Tennessee. The last time the Terps faced the Lady Vols was in a close, 80-75, decision at the Paradise Jam last year. The Terrapins defeated Mississippi, however, earlier this season in the Bahamas, 110-79.

MISSISSIPPI VS. THE FIELD OF 64: Ole Miss is 3-5 against teams in the NCAA Tournament this year, including a loss to the Terps on Nov. 25. Only one more of those losses have come against a non-conference team (at Rutgers). The Rebels are 3-3 against SEC teams in the tournament.

ABOUT TCU: The Lady Frogs are earned their seventh-straight NCAA Tournament bid, earning an at-large berth. Adrianne Ross leads the Mountain West Conference and the team with 17.5 points per game, en route to earning co-Player of the Year honors, while teammate Ashley Davis also earned all-conference nods, earning a spot on the second team, averaging 13.9 ppg. TCU ended up in a four-way tie for second place in the MWC, losing in the quarterfinal round to eventual finalist, Utah.

MWC IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT: Three teams from the Mountain West have earned spots in the 2007 NCAA Tournament. New Mexico claimed the MWC's automatic bid, while BYU and TCU each garnered at-large bids. The Lobos received the highest seed of the three teams at No. 8 and is in the Fresno Regional. BYU is the 11th seed in the Greensboro Regional.

TERPS VS. THE MWC: Maryland has split four games with Mountain West teams, playing four teams currently in the conference overall. The Terrapins defeated Utah last year to get to the Final Four and also beat TCU this season. They lost to Colorado State in the 2001 NCAA Tournament and stumbled in the only meeting against UNLV in 1978.

TCU VS. THE FIELD OF 64: TCU is 3-5 this season against teams in the 2007 NCAA Tournament, including a loss to the Terrapins in the first game of the BTI Classic at Comcast Center. The Lady Frogs posted wins over Southland Champion Texas-Arlington and the Big East's DePaul in the non-conference slate.

MARYLAND LOOKING FOR ANOTHER SUCCESS STORY

- The reigning national champion Maryland women's basketball team begins its quest for a repeat when it travels to Hartford, Conn., to face Harvard in the first round. The Terps are the No. 2 seed for the second-straight year and have been designated to the Dayton Regional, tabbed the toughest regional of the 2007 tournament.
- Maryland will be making its 16th NCAA Tournament appearance, 21st national postseason appearance (four AIAW, one WNIT). The Terps' national championship run last year was the program's first NCAA title.
- Head coach Brenda Frese will be leading her Terps into their fourth-consecutive NCAA Tournament in her five years as head coach. The 2007 senior class of Shay Doron and Aurelie Noirez will be the fourth class in the history of the program to advance to the NCAA Tournament four-straight years and the first since the 1993 senior class. They are the seventh senior class, overall, to make four trips to the postseason.
- Maryland has advanced to the second round of the tournament the last three years.

TERPS IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

- Making its 16th NCAA Tournament appearance, Maryland advances to the tournament for the fourth-straight year, the first time since 1993 the Terps have made four-consecutive trips to the Big Dance.
- The Terrapins have posted a 20-14 record in 15 appearances, winning the NCAA title last year. They were the third-straight No. 2 seed to win the national championship.
- Maryland's championship game appearance last year was its first in the NCAA Tournament. The Terps reached their first Final Four since 1989 and their third overall (2006, 1989, 1992). They also have been to the Elight Eight five times and six Sweet Sixteen.
- In 1989, Maryland earned the program's only No. 1 seed to date. It has been the No. 2 seed five times, including last season when the Terps nabbed the title. Maryland was also the third seed once in 1983 and has never been the No. four, five, 10 or 11 seed.
- In its three NCAA Tournament appearances under head coach Brenda Frese, Maryland improved its seeding from a No. 12 in 2003-04, to a No. 7 in 2004-05, to a No. 2 seed last year.

IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT HISTORY BOOKS

- Maryland's 13-point comeback in the title game tied the second-largest title-game comeback in NCAA Tournament history. The overtime was only the second in NCAA Championship game history.
- It was the third time in NCAA history two teams from the same conference squared off for the national championship and the first time three teams from the same league advanced to the Final Four. The Terrapins faced both North Carolina (Final Four) and Duke (Final) to win the title. Both UNC and Duke were No. 1 seeds, as well.
- Head coach Brenda Frese was the fifth-youngest coach ever to win an NCAA Division I women's basketball championship (35 years, 11 months, five days). The only younger coaches on the list are: Old Dominion's Marianne Stanley (31 in 1985), Southern California's Linda Sharp (32 in 1983), Purdue's Carolyn Peck (33 in 1999) and Tennessee's Pat Summitt (34 in 1987).
- The Terps were the only team in the history of the NCAA Tournament to play in two overtime games en route to winning the national championship. They were also only the fifth team to ever play in two overtime games in the NCAA Tournament.
- Maryland's Shay Doron went 6-for-6 from the free throw line, tying for the fourth-best foul shooting performance in the NCAA Championship game.
- The Terrapins were the third-straight No. 2 seed to win the NCAA title.
- Maryland was the only team in the 2006 Final Four to have played in the inaugural NCAA Tournament Final Four in 1982.

TOURNAMENT TESTED

- This year's Maryland Terrapins enter the postseason with extensive NCAA Tournament experience. With just one senior in the starting lineup, only two of the 11 players on the roster have not played in an NCAA Tournament game.

- Of the nine Terps with NCAA Tournament experience, all but one have played in at least six NCAA Tournament games.
- Redshirt-sophomore Christie Marrone has the least among of experience in the tournament, playing in one game her freshman year at Virginia Tech. Sophomores Kristi Toliver and Marissa Coleman played in six games last year.
- Senior Shay Doron boasts the most tournament experience, playing in a school-record tying 10 games. Classmate Aurelie Noirez has played in nine tournament games, while juniors Crystal Langhorne, Jade Perry and Ashleigh Newman have played in eight.

TERP VS. THE FIELD

- Maryland faced 12 of the 64 teams who were selected or won their respective conference's automatic bid this season. The Terps are 10-5 against tournament teams this season, defeating Michigan State, George Washington, Middle Tennessee State, Marist, Mississippi, TCU, NC State, Florida State and Temple. Maryland has lost to Duke and North Carolina twice, both are also No. 1 seeds. The Terps also stumbled against the Yellow Jackets, but collected paybacks in the ACC Tournament.

ACC IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT

- The ACC tied for the second-most number of selections. Only the Big East garnered more bids, with a tournament-high of eight. The ACC and the Big 12 each had six selections, followed by the SEC's five.

TOURNAMENT SUCCESS

- Maryland had advanced to the NCAA Tournament only twice from 1994-2003. Since then, however, the Terps have made four-straight trips to the Big Dance. Only three other ACC teams can boast such success in the recent future.
- Of the 12 teams, the Terrapins, Duke, North Carolina and NC State are the only conference squads to have made the NCAA Tournament in each of the last four years.

SITE SELECTION

- Of the eight first- and second-round predetermined sites, Maryland has only ever played NCAA Tournament games at two of the locations. The Terrapins went 2-0 in 1982 in Austin, Texas, and also went 2-0 in 1989 in Stanford, Calif. The Terps have never played NCAA Tournament games in Minneapolis, Los Angeles, East Lansing, Mich., Hartford, Conn., Pittsburg, Pa., and Raleigh, N.C.
- Maryland began its championship run last year in the state of Pennsylvania, playing the first and second rounds at Penn State University.

ELITE COMPANY

- Maryland is one of only four schools to claim NCAA titles in both men's and women's basketball, joining Connecticut, North Carolina and Stanford.
- The Terps are also one of just two schools to win titles in men's and women's basketball and football.

MEN & WOMEN GO DANCING

- Maryland is one of 21 institutions to have both their men's and women's basketball teams competing in the NCAA Tournament.
- The Terrapins are also one of just four schools who's men's and women's team have received a top four seed (North Carolina, Ohio State and Texas A&M).

A LOOK BACK:YOUNG TERPS CAPTURE PROGRAM'S 1ST TITLE

BOSTON (AP) - Maryland's players celebrated on the court, laughing and hugging and bouncing up and down.

Never mind that they still had overtime to play.

"Overtime is our time," Terrapins forward Marissa Coleman said. "What a better way to win a national championship than in overtime, which was our time all season long?"

Too young to fear the pressure and too experienced to succumb to it, the Terrapins won their first NCAA women's title Tuesday night, coming back from a 13-point deficit to force overtime and beat Duke 78-75.

Freshman Kristi Toliver hit a 3-pointer at the end of regulation, then made two free throws with 35 seconds left in overtime to give Maryland the decisive lead.

Maryland (34-4) is 6-0 in overtime games this season - the first five on the road and the last in the championship to cap the second-largest comeback in a women's final. It was the first time the title was determined in overtime since Tennessee beat Virginia in 1991.

Toliver's 3-pointer at the end of regulation sent the Terrapins into a frenzy and deflated the Duke bench. But the real party came after Blue Devils guard Jessica Foley's desperation, well-covered 3-point attempt nicked the front of the rim at the overtime buzzer.

"Overtime is our time. What a better way to win a national championship than in overtime, which was our time all season long."

Marissa Coleman

Piling up on the court, hugging and bumping chests, the Terrapins reveled in the youth that had been the biggest doubt surrounding them coming into the tournament. Even coach Brenda Frese, who was the coach of the year at 32 and a national champion at 35, is on the precocious side.

"Age is just a number," she said. "When you got kids that believe and they believe in each other and they've got that kind of confidence, you can accomplish anything as a team."

Foley made two free throws with 18 seconds left in regulation to give Duke a 70-67 lead, then Frese called timeout to set up a play.

Toliver, who had 12 turnovers in the semifinal victory over North Carolina, brought the ball down and veered to the right. With Duke's Alison Bales in her face and 6.1 seconds left, she lofted the 3 that would spark the first of the Terps' two celebrations.

"And I even felt her fingertips as I was holding my follow through," Toliver said.

"So, she did a great job contesting. I just had a lot of confidence. And I knew I wanted to take the big shot so I just took it."

Duke (31-4) opted not to call a timeout; Lindsey Harding brought the ball down the court and put up a desperation leaner from the right baseline that went off the rim.

After that, the usually frenetic Frese just let her players take over.

"I didn't have to say a word," said the coach, who took over a 10-18 team four years ago after winning the 2002 coach of the year award with Minnesota.

Maryland was a charter member of the Final Four 25 years ago but struggled before Frese took over the program in 2002.

Maryland overcame a 13-point deficit to win the 2006 NCAA title, tying the second-largest comeback in CAA Championship title game history.

"Who would have ever thought in my wildest dreams I would have gotten two rings this year?" Frese said. "One getting married and the other a national championship."

Duke took a 75-74 lead before Toliver sank two free throws to put Maryland ahead for good. Coleman, who bounced back from Frese's furious first-half tongue-lashing to finish with 10 points and 14 rebounds, hit the last two free throws for Maryland with 13.4 seconds left before Foley's 3 barely hit iron.

Toliver had 16 points, four assists and just three turnovers in the title game. Final Four Most Outstanding Player Laura Harper and Shay Doron also scored 16 for the Terrapins.

All game long, Frese was walking the sideline and clapping, screaming out plays and in one case walking onto the court to rip into Coleman for the first 30 seconds of a two-minute timeout.

Coleman got the message.

After scoring just two points in the first half, the 6-foot-1 freshman battled against the 6-foot-7 Bales too keep Duke from using its inside edge to counter Maryland's speed. And that's when Toliver, who had to give up the ball-handling against the Tar Heels, took over.

Duke coach Gail Goestenkors wasn't surprised to see a pair of freshmen maintain their poise.

"No, I've seen it too many times," she said. "Every time they go to overtime, they've won."

The loss will sting back on the Durham, N.C., campus, which is already roiling in the aftermath of a lacrosse party that led to allegations of rape and racism. Coach G failed in her fourth trip to the Final Four to add a banner at Cameron Indoor Stadium along the three won by her better-known male counterpart, Mike Krzyzewski.

"I just feel utter disappointment for my players and my seniors," she said. "It's killing me - not for me, but for my players."

But her players felt just the opposite.

"I woke up knowing we were going to win this for her," Harding said. "I wanted to win this for Coach G. I get tired of people saying she can't win the big game."

Monique Currie, who came back for a fifth year to try to win a title, scored 22 points for Duke, and Bales had 19 points and 12 rebounds. But Bales made just one of two free throws with 47 seconds left and the game tied 74-all.

"Right now, I don't feel good about how things ended," Currie said.
