OUR CORE VALUES: THE MARYLAND WAY

Every member of the Maryland team will rely on these core values each day. We will be:

Passionate	It's all about our "WHY."
Responsible	We do the right thing, the right way.
Innovative	We challenge the status quo to build a better way.
Determined	We are relentless in our pursuit of success.
Excellent	We are committed to being the best; We win the "WHY" way.

MISSION

We educate, develop and serve student-athletes through a culture of academic and athletic excellence.

VISION

Our vision is to be the best intercollegiate athletics program while producing graduates who are prepared to serve as leaders in the local, state and global communities.

MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

On July 1, 2014, the University of Maryland officially became a member of the Big Ten Conference, ushering in a new era in Terrapin Athletics. We spent the vast majority of our final year in the Atlantic Coast Conference honoring our proud past and preparing for a promising future in one of the nation's premier conferences.

After 19 months of detailed and collaborative preparation, a transformational day for the University of Maryland arrived on July 1 and we celebrated with a trio of events in Baltimore, Washington D.C. and right here in College Park. Academically, athletically, and globally, our world-class institution is now aligned with state flagship institutions that share our same values.

It's a great time to be a Terp.

Academically, 16 intercollegiate sport programs maintained or improved their multi-year APR scores in the latest 2012-2013 APR report announced by the NCAA. Football earned program-best multi-year and single-year APR marks while the field hockey and women's golf teams both notched perfect multi-year scores of 1000, placing them amongst the top 10 percent of programs in their respective sports.

Our Terps saw a great deal of success on the field as well. The women's lacrosse program hoisted the national championship trophy for an unprecedented 12th time in front of a record crowd of 10,000-plus, which included droves of Terrapin faithful. The baseball team – which landed a berth to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 43 years – took us on a magical ride, which ended just short of a trip to the College World Series.

Maryland teams reached the NCAA postseason in eight different sports, including trips to the Final Four by women's basketball, field hockey, men's lacrosse, men's soccer and women's lacrosse. Additionally, the football team punched its ticket to the Military Bowl in Annapolis. Individually, women's track & field notched multiple All-America honors and wrestling standout Jimmy Sheptock advanced to Maryland's first NCAA Final in 45 years.

With a 25% increase in football season ticket sales year-to-date, increases in premium seat sales, and our efforts to better tell our story through our Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund, we hope you share our heightened level of Maryland Pride as represented in the 2013–14 Annual Review. There are many new experiences and traditions right around the corner, and we hope you will join us for this true renaissance in Maryland Athletics.

Think B1G and Go Terps!

TERPS THINK B1G

The University of Maryland Department of Athletics held a string of exciting events to celebrate the Terps' historic transition to the Big Ten Conference June 30 and July 1.

Fans lined South President Street in front of the Under Armour Brand House to celebrate the beginning of a new era for the University of Maryland on June 30 in Baltimore.

Maryland kicked off its transition into the Big Ten flanked by the Mighty Sound of Maryland, Director of Athletics Kevin Anderson, Big Ten Commissioner Jim Delany, Maryland coaches and Under Armour executives.

Festivities continued that evening as Maryland fans celebrated the Terrapins' historic move to the Big Ten Conference at the fairgrounds outside Nationals Park. Fans played cornhole, watched soccer and took pictures with roaming Big Ten mascots prior to statements from University of Maryland President Dr. Wallace Loh, Big Ten Commissioner Jim Delany, Director of Athletics Kevin Anderson and others.

Maryland became an official member of the Big Ten Conference on July 1 and commemorated the historic day with an on-campus celebration on the lawn in front of the Mitchell Building which included a taste of "B1G Ice Cream," a rich and creamy bourbon vanilla bean ice cream swirled with a raspberry and cream de cassis Melba sauce, accented with pieces of three historic, uniquely Maryland cakes: Kossuth cake, Smith Island cake and Lord Baltimore cake, splashed with a hint of Triple Sec.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

With exciting victories over West Virginia and Virginia Tech, head coach Randy Edsall and the Terps finished with a winning record (7-6) for first time since 2010 and earned a bowl berth for the first time in three seasons. Maryland's trip to the Military Bowl to face Marshall marked its 25th all-time appearance in a bowl game and its second appearance in the Military Bowl.

Offensively, the Terps were led by quarterback C.J. Brown. The senior signal-caller threw for 2,242 yards and 13 touchdowns, and rushed for 576 yards and 12 touchdowns, becoming the first Maryland player to throw for 2,000 or more yards and rush for 500 or more yards in the same season. Brown averaged 256.2 yards of total offense per game, the third-best average in the ACC, and rushed for 100 or more yards four times including a 138-yard rushing performance in Maryland's regular-season finale at NC State, the third-best rushing performance by a quarterback in school history. Brown was named ACC Co-Offensive Back of the Week for his performance against the Wolfpack. Brown also won Maryland's Ray Krouse Memorial Award for the Team's Most Valuable Player and the Offensive Player of the Year Award in honor of Larry Grabenstein.

On defense, Maryland employed a high-pressure attack that allowed the Terps to rack up 37 sacks, tied for the third-highest total in the ACC and the most by a Maryland defense since 2002 (37), led by defensive lineman Andre Monroe (9.5) and linebacker Marcus Whitfield (9.0). Against Connecticut, Whitfield had three sacks, which was tied for the seventh-highest single-game total in the nation, while Monroe posted three at Virginia Tech. Whitfield received Maryland's Defensive Player of the Year Award in memory of Herman Grabenstein. Whitfield was an honorable mention All-ACC selection along with fellow linebacker Cole Farrand. The junior linebacker racked up a career-best 23 tackles against Clemson, which was tied nationally for the most in a single game and was the most by a Maryland player since 1990.

TWO FOR MULLINS

A back-to-back MAC Hermann Trophy winner, Patrick Mullins led Maryland's high-scoring attack with 19 goals and 10 assists as a senior in 2013. The New Orleans native tallied six game-winners to lead Maryland back to the College Cup. He capped his illustrious tenure with the Terrapins ranked second in both goals and points in Maryland men's soccer career annals.

A two-time NSCAA First Team All-American, Mullins' 2013 season ranked fifth in points and goals in Maryland program single-season history. The forward was tabbed Most Valuable Player at the ACC Championship after leading the Terps to their fourth ACC tournament crown since 2008.

He also helped Maryland capture the ACC regular season crown for the second consecutive season. Mullins became only the fourth male to win the MAC Hermann Trophy twice and is the first player to do so since 1995-96.

Following the 2013 season, Mullins was drafted in the first round (11th overall) by the New England Revolution in the MLS SuperDraft.

CAPPING A CAREER OF GREATNESS

Maryland women's basketball forward Alyssa Thomas capped her storied career with a magical run for the ages. As one of the greatest players in Maryland history, she led her 2013-14 team past a top seed and to a huge win in a brutal environment to the NCAA Final Four in Nashville.

The Terrapins fought to find their identity throughout the regular season. After a close loss in the ACC Tournament quarterfinals, they were forced to refocus themselves. Head coach Brenda Frese and her staff challenged the Terrapins in their two weeks before the NCAA Tournament to be the best they could. They went on to beat Army and Texas in the NCAA First and Second Rounds, then handled top-seeded Tennessee, 73-62, behind Thomas' career-high 33 points, 13 rebounds. Two days later, she added 22 points and another 13 rebounds as the Terrapins beat No. 3 Louisville on its home court to go to the Final Four.

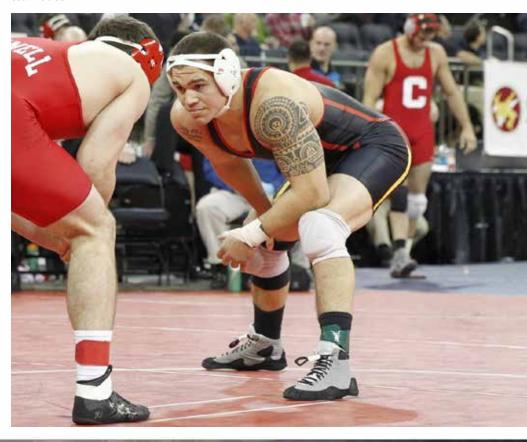

Thomas ended her career as Maryland's all-time leading scorer and rebounder, male or female, with 2,356 career points and 1,235 career rebounds. She notched six triple-doubles in her career – more than half of the 10 in Maryland basketball history. She was named ACC Player of the Year in her sophomore, junior and senior seasons and was just the second player in history to do so. She became the first Terrapin to be named a WBCA All-American three times.

HEADLOCK SHEPTOCK

The Maryland wrestling team finished the 2014 season with a wrestler competing on the final night of the NCAA Championships for the first time in 45 years. Senior Jimmy Sheptock advanced to the 184-pound final to cap one of the finest seasons in Maryland wrestling history. The senior went 32-1 over the course of the season, his only blemish coming in the NCAA final. He was the No. 1 seed in his division, the first Terrapin to ever achieve that feat.

Sheptock began his postseason with this third straight ACC Championship and earned All-ACC honors. The Northampton, Pa., native ascended to the top of the national rankings midway through the season, becoming the only Maryland wrestler ever to do so. Sheptock ended 2013 with his first Midlands Championship title in Evanston, Ill. He led the team in dual wins (17), dual major decisions (4), dual tech falls (5) and dual pins (5).

Sheptock finishes his career as a two-time All-American and three-time ACC Champion. He went 129-20 for his career and 51-0 in his dual matches. He also contributed to two ACC team titles.

REGIONAL CHAMPIONS

With a called third strike, junior right hander Bobby Ruse pumped his fist and was met by sophomore catcher Kevin Martir just in front of the pitcher's mound as the Maryland bench streamed onto the field to celebrate a program first, an NCAA Regional title.

The 2014 Maryland baseball team will enter the record books as the winningest team in school history with 40 victories. Along the way, the Terps advanced to their first ACC tournament final since 1976, their first NCAA Tournament since 1971, and with its three wins in Columbia against Old Dominion and South Carolina, their first-ever Super Regional appearance.

"This group will really be one that is looked back on as a cornerstone in building this program," said head coach John Szefc following Maryland's run to the Charlottesville Super Regional. "I think every Maryland baseball team will look back at this one and try to aim to get where this team ended up and slightly further."

Maryland's remarkable run to the Super Regionals began in May. The Terps finished the month 13-2 including nine straight wins to close the regular season. After advancing to the ACC Championship game, the Terps went 3-0 in the Columbia Regional snapping the Gamecocks 28-game home postseason winning streak and eliminating Carolina from a home regional for the first time since 1976 in the process.

While Maryland finished one win shy of its first trip to Omaha, the 2014 Terps finished ranked in the top 15 in four major polls peaking at No. 13 in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches Poll.

DYNASTY CONTINUED: WOMEN'S LACROSSE WINS 12TH NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

For the second time in a mere four seasons, the much-heralded Maryland women's lacrosse program hoisted the national championship trophy as it defeated Syracuse 15-12 in front of a record crowd of 10,311 at Johnny Unitas Stadium on the campus of Towson University.

Maryland, which also captured an unprecedented sixth-straight league crown in its final year in the Atlantic Coast Conference, boasted a 23–1 overall record and outscored foes by a staggering 350–191 mark. The Terps lead the nation with 12 national championships and 22 final four berths.

Sophomore Taylor Cummings became the youngest player to win the Tewaaraton Award after leading the Terps with 63 goals and 128 draw controls. Cummings, who also won the Honda Award, earned an ESPY nomination for Best Female College Athlete and joined Megan Douty, Beth Glaros, Brooke Griffin, Kelly McPartland and Alice Mercer on the IWLCA All-America team. Head coach Cathy Reese was named IWLCA National Coach of the Year for the second time in her career.

WILLIAMS GETS HALL CALL

Former Maryland men's basketball head coach and student-athlete Gary Williams reached the pinnacle of the sport of basketball August 8 when he was officially enshrined into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame. The legendary Williams was inducted in Springfield, Mass., alongside Alonzo Mourning, David Stern and Mitch Richmond, among others.

Williams was also selected for induction into the National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame, making him the first coach in history to be selected to both institutions in the same year.

Williams led the Maryland men's basketball team from 1993 to 2011, compiling an overall record of 461-252. The Terps clinched 14 NCAA tournament appearances under Williams, advancing to seven Sweet Sixteens and two Final Fours. Williams was heralded as the national and Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year after leading Maryland to its first national title in 2002.

In 2001, Williams became just the sixth coach since 1980 to direct his alma mater to the Final Four. A year later, he became the first coach since 1974 to guide his alma mater to a national title. Williams was named Coach of the Year from Basketball America, CBSsportsline. com and the ACC.

Williams is also a member of the University of Maryland Alumni Hall of Fame, University of Maryland Sports Hall of Fame, Greater Washington Sports Hall of Champions, and the Baltimore Sports Legends Museum Hall of Legends.

RED, WHITE & BLUE TERPS

University of Maryland alums from three Olympic sports donned the red, white and blue for the U.S. national teams for their respective sports in 2014.

Men's soccer's Omar Gonzalez and Graham Zusi played pivotal roles for the U.S. men's national team as it made a magical run at the 2014 FIFA World Cup in Brazil.

Zusi notched two assists, including the game-winner against Ghana, to lead the U.S. as it defied the critics by advancing from the 'group of death' before bowing out in the round-of-16. Gonzalez provided valuable minutes in the backline and recorded a pair of starts at center back.

Field hockey's Katie O'Donnell and Jill Witmer helped Team USA to a fourth-place finish in the 2014 Rabobank Hockey World Cup in The Hague, Netherlands. O'Donnell finished tied for eighth among tournament goal scorers with three.

The fourth-place finish is the second-highest ever for a U.S. team at the FIH World Cup. The 1994 U.S. team earned a bronze medal.

Men's lacrosse's Jesse Bernhardt, Dan Burns and Lee Zink donned the red, white and blue at the 2014 FIL World Championships where Team USA had to settle for a silver medal following an 8-5 loss to Canada in the gold medal game.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) plays an important role in the development of life skills and career development program within the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The SAAC mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by cultivating leadership skills and service initiatives, promoting student-athlete welfare and enhancing the student-athlete voice. Consistent with The Maryland Way Strategic Plan, the University of Maryland Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to educating, developing and serving student-athletes through a culture of academic and athletic excellence.

Guided by our focus on The Maryland Way, coaches, staff and faculty provide student-athletes with experiences that help them develop sound leadership skills, the ability to collaborate with others and the confidence to persevere through life's challenges.

SAAC sponsors and puts on a number of events throughout the year to benefit the student-athletes and the community. In December, SAAC hosted its inaugural "Terps Got Talent Student-Athlete Talent Show", which raised more than $3,000 for the American Cancer Society.

TERPS HELP IN THE COMMUNITY

The University of Maryland Department of Athletics, in conjunction with ShopRite and the Y of Central Maryland, helped usher in the Thanksgiving season by distributing 200 meals to less fortunate families at two Head Start locations in the greater Baltimore area.

Maryland's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee joined forces with the Student Government Association to hand out 200 Thanksgiving meals. More than 70 students participated in the event.

"It was really eye opening to witness firsthand how many families in our area need help and to be able to assist them in any way was incredibly rewarding," Juli Strange, a sophomore on the softball team, said.

A main priority for this year's SAAC was to collaborate more with the university's SGA. This event gave both student-athletes and students alike an opportunity to embrace the surrounding community. The combined effort certainly did not go unnoticed to the families who directly benefited from the community service initiative.

EMMERT PARTICIPATES IN STUDENT-ATHLETE HUDDLE

The University of Maryland welcomed NCAA President Dr. Mark Emmert for a Student-Athlete Huddle on March 6.

Emmert met with over 100 Terrapin student-athletes to discuss an array of topics including scheduling, compliance and the overall student-athlete experience.

"This is about helping you all develop as men and women," Emmert said to the student-athletes in attendance. "We want to make sure being a student-athlete makes you a better person. We want your athletic experience to be an important part of developing you as a person; making you a better person, professional and student than you would have been if you weren't engaged in these activities. That's what college sports is all about."

"We are very grateful to have had the opportunity to have Dr. Emmert on our campus to engage with our student-athletes about pertinent issues surrounding collegiate athletics," Maryland Director of Athletics Kevin Anderson said.

TERP AWARDS CAP OFF TREMENDOUS YEAR

Student-athletes, coaches and teams were honored for prowess in academics, community service and athletics at the third annual Terp Awards, co-sponsored by the Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund and the `M' Club, held at the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center.

Wrestler Jimmy Sheptock earned the John W. Guckeyson Male Athlete of the Year Award and Alyssa Thomas of women's basketball was voted the Suzanne Tyler Female Athlete of the Year for the third year in a row in balloting by the coaches and Student-Athlete Advisory Committee.

Zack Steffen of the men's soccer team and Lexie Brown of women's basketball were named the male and female Rookie of the Year, respectively.

The 2013-14 Maryland women's basketball team, which advanced to the Final Four for the first time since 2006, was recognized as the Terrapin Cup Team of the Year.

Highlighting the academic awards was the presentation of the President's Cup Team GPA Awards to men's golf and women's cross country.

- Behind dual-threat quarterback C.J. Brown and a high-pressure defense, the Maryland football team clinched its first winning season in three years in 2013. TERRAPIN CLUB SCHOLARSHIP FUND UPDATE

In mid-November of 2013, University of Maryland Athletics announced a reorganization of its athletic development office, highlighted by the rebranding of the Terrapin Club with the introduction of the Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund.

The Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund, formerly known as the Terrapin Club, is the official support organization for Maryland Athletics. The mission of the Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund is to generate private donations to fund the annual scholarship costs for Maryland's student-athletes. By covering the costs associated with the annual scholarship bill – approximately at $11,000,000 – the department can reinvest other revenue sources in recruiting, operations, and other costs associated with its 20 sports programs.

Through the Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund and other unrestricted gifts, Maryland Athletics raised over $8.6 million in annual giving to support student-athlete scholarships during the 2013-14 academic year. Previously, that figure was just over $8.1 million.

Including capital, endowments, and other gifts, more than $18.6 million was given to Maryland Athletics in 2014. This figure includes restricted donations to sports programs, facility enhancement gifts, endowment giving, and all forms of private support. With Maryland entering its first year of competition in the Big Ten, increasing both scholarship and sports program support is paramount.

Among the highlights of private support in 2014 include the growth in Terrapin Club Scholar-ship Fund giving at the Director's Circle level, the highest annual giving level that fully funds a student-athlete scholarship. In one year, the Director's Circle has grown by 64%. This year also marked the first time since 2010 that annual giving increased year over year when there was not a reseating of XFINITY Center.

"Our donors to the University of Maryland continue to make a difference for our student-athletes," said Anderson. "As we are experiencing an unprecedented time in our institution's history, we must continue our progressive goal towards fully funding our student-athlete scholarships on an annual basis, which is currently over $10.6 million.

The Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund – founded as the Maryland Educational Foundation, Inc. in 1946 – was initially formed as a support club and social network for Maryland Athletics in four regions – Baltimore, Washington, the Western Shore, and the Eastern Shore. Baltimore and Washington actually had quotas of 50 each, while both shores had 25 each. To be certain, the Terrapin Club has evolved over the years. There is a more sophisticated governance structure, multiple donation levels, tangible and intangible benefits for donors, and appropriate athletics department oversight to ensure full compliance with NCAA rules and regulations.

For more information on the Terrapin Club Scholarship Fund or to refer a prospective donor, please visit www.terrapinclub.com or call the office at (301) 314-7020.
